25And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds and the livestock according to their kinds, and everything that creeps on the ground according to its kind. The words and phrases themselves grow out of the Tyndale-King James legacy, and most recently out of the RSV, with the 1971 RSV text providing the starting point for our work. ESV® Text Edition: 2016. 2The earth was without form and void, and darkness was over the face of the deep. You can find Bible passages that speak to many circumstances, but it's not always easy to find the right scriptures right when you need them most. 13And there was evening and there was morning, the third day. But throughout, our goal has been to retain the depth of meaning and enduring language that have made their indelible mark on the English-speaking world and have defined the life and doctrine of the church over the last four centuries. The ESV is an "essentially literal" translation that seeks as far as possible to capture the precise wording of the original text and the personal style of each Bible writer. You shall have them for food. And God saw that it was good. 3And God said, c"Let there be light," and there was light. 11And God said, h"Let the earth sprout vegetation, plants yielding seed, and fruit trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind, on the earth." And it was so. The ESV® text has been reproduced in cooperation with and by permission of Good News Publishers. It helps to look at it in the context of the rest of the chapter or book. Use a search engine to find a Bible website and enter the reference to read the passage. Some translations are easier to understand than others, and you can better appreciate a passage in one translation versus another. Unauthorized reproduction of this publication is prohibited. The ESV® Bible (The Holy Bible, English Standard Version®). And let them have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over the livestock and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creeps on the earth." 27So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him: male and female he created them. The fountainhead of that stream was William Tyndale's New Testament of 1526; marking its course were the King James Version of 1611 (KJV), the English Revised Version of 1885 (RV), the American Standard Version of 1901 (ASV), and the Revised Standard Version of 1952 and 1971 (RSV). Read the verses before and after the passage to understand the full meaning and prevent misunderstanding. YouVersion, Bible Study Tools and Blue Letter Bible are good sites with easy scripture lookup tools. If you're familiar with a few simple steps for looking up Bible passages online, you can take full advantage of the wisdom the Bible has to offer. On some Bible websites, you can even see the original Hebrew (Old Testament) and Greek (New Testament) words from the Bible. In that stream, faithfulness to the text and vigorous pursuit of accuracy were combined with simplicity, beauty, and dignity of expression. 14And God said, "Let there be lights in the expanse of the heavens to separate the day from the night. 12The earth brought forth vegetation, plants yielding seed according to their own kinds, and trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind. 31vAnd God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good. 5God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. Some translations emphasize simple reading, while others focus on the marvelous poetry of the Bible. Conduct a Word Study Once you've read a specific passage or verse, you can study individual words or phrases to learn where else they occur in the Bible. Many online Bible sites provide tools and commentaries to help you understand a particular verse as well as Bible translations in hundreds of languages. Word studies take a little more time than casual Bible reading, but they can give you an even better understanding and appreciation of the Bible. 16And God kmade the two great lights the greater light to rule the day and the lesser light to rule the night and the stars. And God said to them, s"Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth and subdue it, and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over every living thing that moves on the earth." 29And God said, "Behold, I have given you every plant yielding seed that is on the face of all the earth, and every tree with seed in its fruit. 8And God called the expanse Heaven. 3 And there was evening and there was morning, the second day. And there was evening and there was morning, the sixth day. Reading several passages can help you gain more understanding than a single verse. Look for Different Translations When you look up a passage from the Bible online, don't just read one particular translation. 17And God set them in the expanse of the heavens to give light on the earth, 18to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. 26Then God said, o"Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. And there was evening and there was morning, the first day. 19And there was evening and there was morning, the fourth day. And it was so. It seeks to be transparent to the original text, letting the reader see as directly as possible the structure and meaning of the original. And let them be for seasons, 6 and for days and years, 15and let them be lights in the expanse of the heavens to give light upon the earth." And it was so. You can look up Bible verses by topic on various Bible websites or using a search engine. 4And God saw that the light was good. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the waters. This helps you gain a deeper understanding of what the Bible is communicating. Search for Bible Verses by Topic Sometimes you don't have a specific passage in mind, but you know the topic you want to know more about. 10God called the dry land Earth, 4 and the waters that were gathered together he called Seas. When you search for a particular topic, you can expect to come across multiple verses that address that subject. 22And God blessed them, saying, n"Be fruitful and multiply and fill the waters in the seas, and let birds multiply on the earth." 23And there was evening and there was morning, the fifth day. The Bible offers a wealth of wisdom and truth for all areas of life. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET 11In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. More about the ESV translation philosophy... Viewing scriptures in different translations — New King James, New International Version, New American Standard and more — can increase your understanding of the verses. Our goal has been to carry forward this legacy for a new century. To this end each word and phrase in the ESV has been carefully weighed against the original Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek, to ensure the fullest accuracy and clarity and to avoid under-translating or overlooking any nuance of the original text. And it was so. Use of either trademark requires the permission of Good News Publishers.
